HOLIDAY BOOK DRIVE 2009!!!

“Write On! For Literacy” is holding its Ninth Annual Holiday Book Drive to benefit underprivileged children! Last year we collected nearly 2,000 books (bringing our grand total to more Thanks iUniverse!

Kevin Weiss, the CEO of iUniverse Publishing, heard about Write On! and has generously offered to donate lots of new books to our Holiday Book Drive effort!!

I published my second book, 3 a.m., with iUniverse and I have been incredibly happy with the experience. I would definitely recommend iUniverse if you are thinking of self-publishing your book!

About Write On!

“Write On! For Literacy” is a volunteer-run organization founded by author Dallas Woodburn in 2001. The goal is to encourage kids to discover confidence, happiness, a means of self-expression, and connection to others through reading and writing. The Write On! website features writing contests, book reviews, author interviews, writing tips and ideas, and ways for everyone to get involved.

than 10,000 books!) that were distributed to various schools and charities including the Boys & Girls Club, Casa Pacifica, and Project Understanding. Please do your part to help children have a better holiday season. Help beat illiteracy and give the gift that lasts forever: the gift of reading!

Want to get involved?

- You can mail book donations to the Write On! chapter headquarters: 400 Roosevelt Court, Ventura, CA, 93003
- You can also mail monetary donations that will be used to purchase books to the above address. (Checks made out to Dallas Woodburn.)
- You can start a chapter in your area! Donate books to a local charity -- <http://www.bgca.org/Boys & Girls Clubs> are usually very grateful for donations -- and then <mailto:dallaswoodburn@aol.com> Dallas the total number of books donated which will then be added to our grand-total.
